Press Release

Doug Simpson Launches BackDraft Systems

New company focuses on development of legal practice systems

Oakville, ON, February 28, 2007: Doug Simpson of Oakville, ON has launched a new business to provide consulting services and software tools relating to the development of legal practice systems. Practice systems help lawyers increase productivity through the automation of document production tasks and the organization of information used to prepare documents. Mr. Simpson is both a lawyer and computer scientist and has more than 20 years of experience in developing, marketing and implementing practice systems, including former experience as President of ExperText Systems Ltd. and CIO of Debt Recovery Network. For the past 5 years he served as CEO and General Counsel of GhostFill Technologies Inc. He has been involved in the design, development, marketing and implementation of dozens of practice systems for tens of thousands of professionals throughout North America.

Mr. Simpson said: "I am pleased to announce the formation of this new business called BackDraft Systems. I hope to work with law firms, corporate law departments, professionals and publishers to assist in the design, development and implementation of high quality document automation systems. I'm also working on some tools for developers and publishers to assist in the rapid development and deployment of practice systems in specific practice areas."

BackDraft Systems is an Ontario, Canada, company with offices in Oakville, ON (near Toronto) that will provide a range of services and products related to document assembly and practice systems, primarily for the legal market. Contact: www.backdraftsystems.com or Doug Simpson, 233 Overton Place, Oakville, ON Canada L6H 1E8, email dougsimpson@backdraftsystems.com, telephone 416-878-3469 or 905-845-6079.
